

NAG Library Routine Document

A00AAF

Note: before using this routine, please read the Users' Note for your implementation to check the interpretation of bold italicised terms and other implementation-dependent details.

1 Purpose

A00AAF prints information about the version of the NAG Library in use.

2 Specification

SUBROUTINE A00AAF ()

3 Description

The NAG Library is available for use on a number of different computer systems. For each distinct system an implementation of the library is prepared. This includes tested compiled libraries and any necessary system-specific support material. A00AAF may be called to print the implementation details and Mark (i.e., maintenance level) of the NAG Library implementation that is being used.
